

Manifesto Example 1

Hi, I'm xxx and I'm running to be your next Athletic Union Officer.

INTRODUCE QUALIFICATIONS FOR CLUB MEMBERS

- Work with the SU to put club members through coaching courses.
- This will improve the quality of club's training sessions and give volunteers a coaching qualification.

ENCOURAGE PARTICIPATION

- Introduce regular casual sport sessions to offer a wider range of sports at a relaxed level.
- Raise the profile of intramural sport.
- Bring disabled and able-bodied students together through sport, by putting on taster sessions for disability sports such as Boccia and Goalball, to promote inclusive sport.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL WELLBEING

- Give Welfare Officers regular, effective training so they can support members of their club who are struggling.

IMPROVE ACCESSIBILITY

- Evaluate sports centre membership costs and push for monthly payment and monthly pay as you go options.
- Work to keep Wednesday afternoons free for sport, so students don't have to decide between their studies and sporting commitments.

WORK FOR CHARITY

- Provide support for clubs to organise their own charity events and help publicise them.
- Integrate our sports clubs into the community, to improve relations between students and other residents in local areas.

VOTE XXX #1 for AU

Manifesto Example 2

Hi, I'm XXX, third year English Lit student and second year News Editor, and I want to be your next Student Media Officer! Having dedicated (too much) time to the Courier over the last three years of my degree, I'd love the chance to maintain and improve the legacy of our wonderful student media outlets here at Newcastle Uni.

Voting xxxxxxxx will mean voting to get more from your student newspaper.

More inclusion, with new writer's workshops, meetings and media events to encourage anyone to get involved in student journalism whatever their degree of experience. More socials, between all branches of NUSU media, to encourage integration of writers, editors, NUTV and NSR and collaboration between these groups.

More online promotion, releasing up to date articles over our online and student media channels more frequently with the help of extra online editors.

More representation for societies and clubs with a redesigned weekly news column dedicated to events happening on campus, and a bigger comment section to discuss the issues you care about.

Finally, more interactive features in the paper, to encourage student entertainment and engagement. I hope you consider giving me your vote this election season!

Manifesto Example 3

Hey, I'm XXX and I'm a third year History undergraduate. I believe that I am the ideal candidate for the SU President due to my engagement with various aspects of Newcastle University life. I have organised course balls, established a football team (sadly one that is bottom of the league), involved myself in different sports and societies, including Rugby League and Dance, and worked hard to improve my subject through being a course rep, a peer mentor and a committee member. Crucially, I believe that my policies are realistic and beneficial to all students and will help create a fair, affordable and positive campus.

These include:

Greater focus on mental health counselling and advice

Reducing the financial worries of students

Revitalising the Students' Union

Reforming the Robinson library

Increasing the future career opportunities of students and ensuring that they are informed and optimistic about the future

Representing the needs of all students and providing equal treatment to the issues that prevent everyone from having the best possible University experience.

I believe that my proactive attitude suits the role of President immensely and can result in my policies becoming a reality.

Manifesto Example 5

My name is XXX and I'm running to be your next Welfare & Equality Officer. I'm extremely passionate about ensuring that all students receive the same, first class experience at Newcastle. You need someone who can listen to student concerns and fight for a campus, free from discrimination and inequality. If elected I will strive for:

Mental Health

- Break activities such as installing a Wii console in Luther's.
- Mandate the University to spend more money on student mental health.
- Puppy/Dog days for students to relax.

Welfare Waypoints

- Online information for students in various different circumstances. The current online information just simply isn't up-to-date or detailed enough.

- Online help guides on budgeting, cooking and other life skills.

Sexual Health

- Regular drop in clinics available in the SU and around campus.
- Better access to free condoms.
- Access to free tampons and sanitary towels in every school around campus.

Drugs and Alcohol

- Implementation of amnesty bins around campus.

Equality & Awareness

- More support for Students with disabilities in schools, and ensuring support is tailored to students rather than a blanket approach.
- Implement and reward peer to peer support programmes.
- Extend Welfare training to societies.
